

BUSINESS INTERIORS CEO Kathy White Named Volunteer of the Year

REPRINT: Steelcase Weekly - February 29, 2012

On January 19, the Women's Business Council – Southwest (WBCS) held its 16th annual Gala honoring the 2011 accomplishments of Women's Business Enterprises (WBEs) and supporting corporations. Kathy White, CEO of Business Interiors of Irving Texas, was awarded WBE Volunteer of the Year.

WBCS selected White for the award because of her passion and support in advancing women entrepreneurs. White mentored a small woman-owned business, and she has served on the Council's WBE Recruitment and Mentoring committees. In addition, Business Interiors has hosted monthly Women's Business Council committee meetings and sponsored many of the Council's events throughout the year.

"The annual Gala honors WBEs that have achieved success and positively contributed to their industries and their communities, along with corporations that understand the value of supporting these WBEs," said Debbie Hurst, president of Women's Business Council – Southwest. "Everyone benefits from this cooperation. The WBEs are aided on their pathway to success, and the supporting corporations as well as the communities at large are enhanced by the value these enterprises add."
